COLUMBUS, Feb. 6.—State Tax Commissioner C. Emory Glander recommended today a 20-point tax program which would provide an annual revenue increase of $8,500,000 to Ohio local governments. Glander's recommendations included state abandonment of the admission tax field which he said would produce $3,000,000 if levied by the cities. He likewise favored turning over to local governments the intangible property tax on deposits and shares or capital of financial institutions, producing about $12,000,000 each year. Other increases in local tax revenues would be $500,000 from a cigarette tax and $2,000,000 from the state's preemption of the costs of maintaining common pleas and appeals courts. The state tax commissioner recommended that under his program state allocations to local governments of the state sales tax be reduced to $12,000,000 a year. Reappraisals Backed A principal portion of Glander's program dealt with continuous re-

Church Women Plan World Prayer Day

Four services, instead of the customary afternoon meeting, were planned in observance of the World Day of Prayer, Friday, Feb. 21, at the Methodist church, when the Salem Council Federation of Church Women met Wednesday afternoon in the Memorial building. The federation includes women of the Baptist, Presbyterian, Trinity and Emmanuel Lutheran, Friends, Christian, Methodist and Episcopal churches. Tentative plans call for a prayer service for women from 10 a. m. to 11; a service at 2 p. m., at which the National program will be carried out; a service at 4 for children and concluding the day's activities with a service at 8 built around the needs of youth. The Salem Ministerial association is giving its full support to these services. Mrs. E. M. Parks, wife of Rev. Parks of the Church of the Nazarene, is president of the unit. Mrs. V. R. McBane and Mrs. Anthony Wolna are vice president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. Mrs. Parks and Mrs. R. E. Mosher gave the devotions. A quartet from the Salem High school composed of John Huddleston, Wallace Burrell, Richard Theiss and William Parks sang a group of songs, including "Telling," "I Ain't Going to Study War No More," "I Shall Not Be Moved" and "Who Swallowed Jonah."

appraisal of all real property and a militant attitude toward collection of delinquent real and personal property taxes which he said totaled $104,844,264 in 1945. Glander opposed pending legislation which would withdraw Ohio from the utility excise tax field and open the way for a local consumers' utility tax. Such a consumers' tax, then in force at Youngstown and Columbus, was declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court last year and blocked proposed levies at Zanesville, Portsmouth and other cities. Glander, however, without passing on the merits of the consumer's tax suggested, that the legislature might permit legal levying of such taxes by municipalities through amendments saying that nothing in either the state sales tax or public utilities excise tax laws shall be construed as limiting municipal power to levy a consumers' utility tax. Other recommendations included: That the state excise tax on cigarette sales, now a temporary two-year measure, be made permanent. That the liquid fuel excise tax be reinstated. That the code requiring a 65 percent favorable vote for taxes outside the ten-mill limitation be amended to permit a majority rule. Glander also recommended an amendment to the code prohibiting bond-issuing authorities or tax subdivisions from issuing general obligation bonds without a public vote. He exempted from this recommendation refunding bonds issued to

Hold Veteran In Theft of Guns

Guns, valued at $1,200, stolen from Dr. G. A. Roese's cottage at the Salem Country club were recovered late Wednesday by Sheriff George Hayes, who arrested a Salineville ex-Marine for the burglary. Sheriff Hayes is holding the veteran pending actual charges after he was forced to confess the theft of six trap-shooting guns from Roese's cottage. Hayes and Roese secured the confession after witnesses told of seeing the youth's car parked at the rear of the cottage at 11 p. m. Monday. He admitted the crime and showed deputies where the guns were hidden in a mine shaft near Salineville. A hearing will be held today and formal charges placed against the man, who served in the Marines overseas and was missing in action for more than two years. He is employed as a meter reader.

Her father was found in the same condition and was hospitalized in Warren for several days. Neither police nor physicians have said what caused the illness, at first believed to have been monoxide gas poisoning.

Eisler Angrily Refuses To Take Oath Before House Committee

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Gerhard Eisler, alleged chief Communist agent in the United States, refused to take an oath and testify before the house un-American activity committee today. He was cited for contempt. When Eisler, a pale, slightly-built man, was ordered to take the stand, he first sputtered: "No I'm not going to take the stand." Chairman Thomas (R-NJ) demanded that he raise his hand and take the oath. Eisler refused and finally declared: "You will not swear me in before you hear a few remarks." Finally, Thomas told Eisler to "step aside," meaning to leave the witness stand. Could Be Jailed The committee promptly voted to cite Eisler for contempt. That is a charge which must be tried before a jury. Conviction carries a possible penalty of $1,000 fine and a year in jail. The committee called Eisler in an effort to develop what is the "chain of command" between American Communists and international Communist leaders. Louis F. Budenz, former editor of the Daily Worker, told the committee at a hearing last year that Eisler is the No. 1 Communist in this country and "hands down the party line." Eisler came to the hearing carrying a sheet of paper upon which he apparently had scribbled his reply to testimony previously presented by Budenz. He never read it, however, for right from the start he became embroiled with Thomas over whether he would take an oath. Returned To Ellis Island At the end, sputtering protests in a German accent, Eisler was taken from the committee hearing room by Justice department agents. They said they were taking him back to Ellis Island. He was arrested last week on charges of violating immigration laws. Eisler says he is Austrian-born and describes himself as an anti-Fascist. When told to take the witness chair, he first declared: "Remember you are here as the guest of the country." The forefinger of his right hand drumming emphasis on the table, Eisler shouted angrily: "I am anti-Fascist. I am not a guest of the country."

Overcast Halts Altitude Flight of Helicopter

DAYTON, Feb. 6.—An overcast at 10,000 feet today temporarily balked an attempt by Maj. Ernest Cassell to set a new high altitude record for helicopters. The 35-year-old Indianapolis pilot returned to Wright field approximately a half hour after he had taken off. Mechanics began refueling the plane and Maj. Cassell said he would make another try later today. Cassell's flight approached within 1,150 feet of the present altitude record currently held by Germany at 11,500 feet. Cassell had hoped to push the mark to 20,000 feet, considered the absolute ceiling for helicopters.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Harriet O'Rourke, 24, had beauty, charming personality and a silvery coloratura-soprano voice, clippings in her scrapbook said. In Chicago she was one of four chosen from 150 singers to try out for the Metropolitan Opera's auditions of the air in New York. Last night she committed suicide in her Manhattan apartment by turning on the gas jets, police said. Nearby was the scrapbook and a note addressed to her father, Albert, of the (Lost Creek Country club) Lima, O. The note, said police, told him the future had not held the bright hopes her scrapbook promised.

New South Pole Coastline Found

(By Associated Press)
LITTLE AMERICA, Feb. 6.—The United States Navy's South Polar expedition, filling gaps in the map of Antarctica, has discovered a new 2,000-mile coastline and explored 125,000 square miles of previously unknown continental area. Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, expedition commander, made this announcement in a summarizing news conference yesterday as preparations went forward for an early departure northward before the antarctic winter sets in. "There are great resources here and it is possible to go after them," he said. He explained that mechanized units with long tracks could travel the snow, planes could land anywhere and "you could drill through the ice for oil."

COLUMBUS, Feb. 6.—Atty. Gen. Hugh S. Jenkins was instructed by Gov. Thomas J. Jenkins said he expected to announce today more citations against private clubs which received permits since Dec. 1. Earlier this week he cited 24 permit holders in Cleveland and two in Lorain.

Returned To Japan After Loot Worth $210,000 Is Uncovered

(By Associated Press)
TOKYO, Feb. 6.—Col. Edward J. Murray, former custodian of the 245,250.29-carat collection of Japanese diamonds held by the Allies in bank of Japan vaults, was reported flying back to Japan today under technical arrest on order of General MacArthur. Murray was detained by San Francisco customs officials who said they seized $210,000 worth of diamonds on his person and in his luggage when he arrived there by ship Monday. They quoted him as saying he considered the diamonds "legitimate loot." A board of officers began checking the store of diamonds kept in an inner vault of the bank four stories underground. The total treasure of diamonds is valued at $2,679,553, and is stored together with gold, silver and platinum bullion valued at $256,147,219. Murray, who was selected for the custodian job because of his excellent record, was in charge of the vaults from Nov. 25, 1945, to last Jan. 17 except for three months temporary duty in the United States last spring.

Ohio WCTU Leader Presses Fight For Liquor Sale Zones

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 6.—The Ohio Women's Christian Temperance union turned the heat a little higher under the state liquor department today. In the middle of a legislative inquiry into department operation under the Democrats, it demanded immediate enforcement of ancient laws prohibiting sale of liquor near agricultural lands and certain institutions. WCTU chairmen in 57 Ohio counties turned amateur detectives for the occasion. They reported: In 42 counties intoxicants are sold within two miles of agricultural lands. In six counties liquor is sold within 1,200 yards of a state hospital or orphanage. In at least 12 counties, intoxicating drinks are sold within one mile of a Children's home. A law now nearly 99 years old makes such sales illegal. Armed with statistics from the survey, Miss Mary Ervin, Ohio WCTU president, was scheduled today to confer with State Liquor Director Stanley B. Cofall. Cofall obtained deferment of the problem during his first interview with Miss Ervin, shortly after he took over his job Jan. 13. Liquor interests have before the legislature a bill to amend the old zoning laws to exclude licensed dealers. The WCTU, which is lobbying for extension of the law to zone areas near churches, schools and other such institutions, wants a clear-cut decision before the legislature has a chance to pull the teeth from the law.

Terrorism In Palestine

Conditions in Palestine have been going from bad to worse so steadily that the crisis which now seems imminent shouldn't surprise anyone. Yet, especially those most remote from the scene seem to have the attitude that the British somehow are to blame for admitting that a crisis exists; that if they'd go away, the crisis would go with them.

This is not quite the ingenious opinion it seems to be because it carefully disregards the fundamental problem in Palestine, which is an outbreak of terrorism that may not be of entirely local origin. The representatives of Great Britain, the spokesmen for the Jews who are not terrorists and the spokesmen for the Arabs are of one mind on that subject. Terrorism is intolerable. Their argument on other matters has been suspended, in a manner of speaking, while the British military takes the steps it considers necessary to eliminate the thing that could make all further argument useless—the threat of organized terror.

Snow And Colder

The only deplorable thing about a mild winter is the confusion it causes. It isn't good for humanity to take anything about the weather for granted, except the worst.

This is because the elements are still supreme. Humanity cannot safely drop its guard. A blizzard can come screaming out of nowhere and paralyze a whole region. A sleet storm can stall everything that moves. Drought can reduce the crop statistics to a starvation diet of their own miscalculations. A prolonged rainy season in the spring, or a premature rainy season in the fall can be an international catastrophe.

The snow flurries and falling temperatures of the last few days have not constituted, in themselves, even a reasonable facsimile of the weather that apparently isn't going to happen this winter. But they have spurred the imagination. They have reminded the beneficiaries of a mild winter how tough things could have been if the winter had been half as bad as winters can be, which is average. There can be no complaints, because if even the worst happened now the winter of 1946-47 still would be a soft touch as weather goes.

Opinions Make News

One of the smartest moves afoot in congressional Republican circles is a plan to stage a weekly radio report giving spokesmen for the opposition a chance to match viewpoints.

Opinions make news. The broadcasts, if handled properly, would be thoroughly reported. Since news, in turn, makes opinion, more voters would have more opinions about more subjects, which is the place where government by the people begins.

The best part of any proposal which includes a hearing for the other side is the automatic support it wins. The American people love a debate, win, lose, or draw. They have a soft place in their political hearts for any officeholder or candidate for office with enough confidence to take on his opponent, catch-as-catch-can, in public.

The Republican party could spend the funds available for public relations to no better advantage than a recurrent statement of its own and the opposition's program and position. The radio offers an opportunity for constructive political action in the field of public education at the point where education is most neglected—the functioning of the legislative branch of the national government.

Atomic Security

United States senators, it is reported, are alarmed at rumors that the Soviet Union has discovered chinks in this nation's atomic security wall. They are seeking assurance that the chinks will be plugged up.

The assurance will be forthcoming, no doubt. But in due course of time there will be more chinks, more alarm, more seeking of assurance. The atomic security wall which the United States is trying to maintain, like the Great Wall of China, is at best only an illusion.

At worst, it is a dangerous illusion, because it invites Americans to believe in the existence of something that doesn't exist; i.e., security. There can be no security from atomic destruction, except through creation and maintenance of good will in all those segments of civilization capable of using atomic bombs for violent purposes.

United States senators and their constituents, it must be noted, are not alarmed about the knowledge of atom-splitting possessed by Britain and Canada; their good will is taken for granted. They are not concerned about possible danger from Switzerland, for instance, or Sweden, Mexico, Spain and France. It is entirely possible these segments of civilization might find out how to make atomic bombs, but it is not believed possible they would use them, except as a last resort in their own defense. Only the Soviet Union is feared, because it is known to entertain ambitions of overthrowing other governments. The one nation which has atomic bombs, the United States, is not feared—except by Russia—because it has no ambitions to overthrow other governments, not even the government of Russia.

The Stars Say

For Friday, February 7

IT is probable that some peculiar, irregular, unprecedented and unpredictable turn in the wheel of fortune may not only descend with explosive potency but will have radical, far-reaching and breathtaking climax. All phases of life are involved, and there is an undercurrent of the subtle, bewildering and intriguing. These must be cleverly managed, with ingenuity and acumen, in order to avert the channels of the profitable, pleasant and secure. Sidestep the spectacular and sensational for safety and lasting gain.

Those whose birthday is in the threshold of a thrilling year of the unprecedented, spectacular and revolutionary, with all life interests due for a sudden or explosive visitation, with whirlwind denouement. Brilliant ideas, dynamic impulses, high-powered emotions involving personal as well as business or professional welfare, are in the balance, calling for calm analysis or most thrilling adventures and a lucrative climax. Subtle and deep insight into strange circumstances might avert mysterious complications.

A child born on this day is probably endowed with diverse unfathomable, unorthodox and spectacular skills, talents and traits of character. It may have an unpredictable quality, with high adventure and romance.

An Illinois man was fined for a suicide attempt. He now knows the meaning of "your money or your life."

The year 1948 may be a break for the gals, but it'll be just another Leap Year for the pedestrians.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Difficult Problem For Youngster and Parent

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
ENURETIC or bed-wetting is usually more distressing to parents than any other of childhood's faults or failures.

If they could only realize that voluntary control of the bladder during sleep normally develops at a later age than control during waking hours, they would save themselves worry and spare the child all the bad effects which result when parental shame and resentment are visited on his defenseless head.

According to Dr. Clifford Sweet of Oakland, California, parents should be told, first of all, that a child should not be accused of bed-wetting until he is well beyond the age at which he can have control of the bladder when asleep. In some children this may not be until the youngster is three or four years of age.

Several Causes

If enuresis or bed-wetting does continue beyond this period, it may be due to several things. The child may not yet have grown up with reference to control of his bladder, even though he may be particularly advanced in other ways.

On the other hand, impatience, blame and punishment on the part of his parents may have held back his progress, and even have kept him from trying to cooperate in learning bladder control.

Bed-wetting may continue because subconsciously the child wishes to remain in the protected state of infancy, and another cause may be his subconscious resentment against the way his parents dominate him. Thus, wetting the bed is his way of getting even with them for too much criticism.

The Treatment

Thus, according to Dr. Sweet, in getting rid of enuresis, the treatment must be reeducation of the child and his parents rather than the use of any drugs, changes in the diet or similar measures.

Only very rarely, in Dr. Sweet's opinion, is the habit due to any actual disease either of the bladder or other body structures.

In some instances, however, such things as bladder or kidney inflammation may be responsible and occasionally diabetes may be at the root of the trouble.

In the great majority of cases the problem is not a physical but a psychological one in which both the parents and child are involved. It usually clears up readily when parents learn the proper methods of handling the offending youngster.

Of course they must show confidence in him, avoiding criticism, blame and punishment.

The chief thing is to remember which the child must learn just as he learns to walk and talk and that he will learn it in time if parents show patience and understanding.

The child must not be allowed to be upset because he occasionally wets the bed.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Boyle's COLUMN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The Republicans seem determined to try to limit a president to two terms in the White House.

There's no law now against three terms or more. But there's a tradition against it, dating back to George Washington who quit after two.

A number of presidents—Jefferson, Jackson, Hayes, Taft, Cleveland—favored a limit on presidential terms.

No president ever had more than two until President Roosevelt won a third term in 1940 and a fourth in 1944.

In those critical years the voters gave Mr. Roosevelt a third and fourth term because they trusted his leadership or feared a change. The Republicans, citing tradition, had screamed against those third and fourth terms and called for a ban on any more than two.

The only way it could be done would be by amending the constitution to limit the number of terms. The constitution doesn't set a limit now.

But the Republicans were blocked in congress where the Democrats kept control until this year.

Now the Republicans are in control and they're doing something about it. Some Democrats are helping them.

Some Democrats joined the Republicans Monday in approving—in the house judiciary committee—a proposal which would do this:

Amend the Constitution to limit the president to two terms in the White House. And it doesn't mean two full terms. It means any part of two.

For example: President Truman wasn't elected to his present term. Stepping up from the vice presidency, he's serving out Mr. Roosevelt's unexpired term.

If he should be elected in 1948 to a full term, that would be considered Mr. Truman's second term. He couldn't run again in 1952 or ever.

This proposed constitutional change may come up for a vote in the full house very shortly. The Republicans are all for speed in this.

It will need a two-thirds vote to pass. Smart Democrats think it will pass, with some Democrats joining Republicans to put it through.

If it passes the house, then it goes to the senate. A two-thirds vote is needed there, too.

If it passes both houses, one more step is needed before it can become a constitutional amendment:

Thirty-six of the 48 state legislatures—or 36 state constitutional conventions—must approve. This is not so easy or swift.

But there'll be plenty of argument in this country before that day—if it comes—when the president's terms are limited.

The big question in the argument is this: What's wrong with a man's being elected president as often as the people want him?

Briefly, here's the argument against more than two terms:

1. It's dangerous to keep one man as president too long since he may grab too much power and even become a dictator.

2. In a democracy no one man should be so necessary that he must be kept in office indefinitely.

3. A change in the presidency is good for the country. It means fresh blood and fresh ideas with no one man getting stale and old in office.

Briefly, here's the argument against a limit on the presidency:

1. This country has enough safeguards to keep any man from grabbing too much power or becoming a dictator, no matter how often he's president.

2. The people at all times should be trusted to elect or reject a man or keep in office indefinitely any man they think should be there.

3. The people of this generation—by constitutional amendment—shouldn't be able to prevent future generations from doing what they wish.

For example: In some future crisis—as in 1940 and 1944—they might want to keep one man in the presidency for the sake of the country.

But a constitutional amendment, passed now to limit presidential terms, would prevent that.

By HAL BOYLE
WASHINGTON — One hundred and forty-seven years ago President John Adams—a stiff-minded man from New England—moved to the nation's new capital here, bringing along 131 federal employees. That's all there were.

But to some contemporary citizens, opposed to the growth of bureaucracy, even that number seemed like unnecessary padding of the government payroll. They thought the United States could run its affairs on a smaller budget.

It Takes Psychology To Oil Wheelbarrows

AKRON — A building contractor, troubled with punctures in pneumatic tires on his wheelbarrows, called engineers of the B. F. Goodrich Co. for help. They prescribed zero-pressure tires—a type containing an air space, but without inflated inner tubes.

But the laborers complained that the wheelbarrows were harder to push without pneumatic tires. Suspecting that this was imagination, the contractor had dummy valves put through the rim holes.

Next day, one by one, his employees told him that pushing was much easier, as "they knew it would be with pneumatic tires."

At that time the Treasury employed 69 people, the State department seven (they were shoe-horned in with the Treasury office), the Navy 15 and the Army—which had not yet thought up the Pentagon building—18. I don't know what the remaining 22 of the original 131 did, unless they sharpened quill pens.

The 32 senators and 115 congressmen complained bitterly about the housing shortage in a metropolitan area containing 14,000 overcrowded souls.

The railroads of the day—stagecoaches—also had trouble with their schedules. I took one Treasury clerk six days to bring his wife and nine children from Philadelphia, the former capital. Present day government workers marvel less at this than how the forgotten clerk ever managed to have a brood of nine on a federal salary.

The woeful misadventures of those government pioneers have their counterparts today in the daily struggles of a vast army of modern federal employees to build a fuller life in still-cramped but ever-growing Washington.

For a forecast major post-war population drop in the capital has failed to materialize.

Since 1800 the population of metropolitan Washington has grown from 14,000 to approximately 1,300,000, spurred by the development of the federal payroll into the area's chief "heavy industry."

Now civil planners say there is a need for 49,000 new dwelling units to accommodate newcomers expected to swell the population to 1,500,000 by 1950, when year long sesquicentennial celebrations will be held to observe the 150th anniversary of the arrival of the federal budget here.

Business men began to revise their estimates of a declining Washington after a wartime survey disclosed that only one out of eight adults had any intentions of leaving.

"We knew the number of government employees will be reduced," said Edwin N. Lewis of the board of trade, "but only one tenth of the federal government's workers live in Washington anyway. The cut-down won't be too hard here."

The board of trade believes any population loss from reduction of the federal budget will be more than made up by an influx of service trades workers. Normally there are two to three service trades workers—store, garage, restaurant, laundry and utilities employees—to each government worker here. During the war the ratio fell to a proportion of one to one.

The capital also expects soon to have its second biggest industry—the tourist group—going full blast. Before the war some 3,500,000 tourists and convention visitors spent from forty to fifty million dollars annually. Much of it went for steaks to build up their legs for the free walk through the capital building.

So short is living space that run-down ancient brick dwellings in historic Georgetown zoomed from $3,000 up to $9,000. Residents feel, however, the price peak has passed. But restaurants, buses and street cars are still jammed. A fleet of 8,000 taxis is kept busy.

Old-time Washingtonians sigh for the pleasant, leisurely life of yore, but see no hope of it ever returning.

The 131 federal employees of 1800 grew to more than 300,000 during the war. Last November 299,218 persons still on the government payroll here drew $84,942,461.

John Adams really started something.

ANOTHER COLD WAVE threatens GAS supply!

Once again severe cold weather threatens to imperil gas service throughout this area. Gas supply lines, taxed to capacity even in normal winter weather, are now seriously overburdened as a result of this cold weather. Gas pressures in the lines are running dangerously low.

Remember—there is no shortage of natural gas. There is plenty of gas at the source, in the gas wells of Texas, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The shortage exists in the capacity of the supply and distribution lines that bring the gas from the wells to your home.

Your gas company is doing everything possible to keep up with the ever increasing demand for gas. Our expansion program would have been adequate and in time had it not been for shortages of pipe, fittings, compressors and other vital materials needed to complete our planned expansion of distribution facilities.

In the meantime, during the present shortage—and particularly during this extreme cold weather—it is vitally necessary that everyone cooperate by using less gas. We have already drastically reduced industrial consumption, so this plea is directed at domestic users.

What you do to save gas may not seem a great deal... perhaps saving only a few cubic feet. But when you multiply your saving by the saving of your friends and neighbors, and then by thousands and thousands of other gas users—the total can be considerable.

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN HELP PREVENT A CRITICAL SHORTAGE

1. Don't use your gas range to heat your kitchen.
2. If you heat with gas, set your thermostat at 65 degrees, still lower at night.
3. Shut off rooms not in use, particularly attics and second floor bedrooms. Place a rug at bottoms of doors.
4. Close bedroom doors at night. Turn off heat by closing registers or radiators.
5. Conserve hot water; use it sparingly. Set your hot water thermostat or flame as low as possible.

Sgt. Ashman Views Volcano Eruption From Army Plane

Sgt. Rudie D. Ashman of R. D. 5, Salem, who is attached to the 15th Weather Squadron in the Philippine Islands, was aboard a squadron plane which observed an eruption of the Mayon volcano on Jan. 14. Ashman is a chief observer in the weather service.

The following is an Associated Press account of the flight:

The greatest show on earth at the moment is being staged by majestic Mayon volcano with an eruptive performance about every three hours as awesome as were the atomic clouds over Bikini.

We had dress circle tickets for the matinee performance today with Mayon leaping into violent activity while our United States Army Weather observation plane was within 400 meters of its steaming slopes.

At 1:40 p. m. the 15th Weather Squadron plane on a photographic mission and piloted by Capt. Robert A. Harris and First Lt. Edward L. Benson was completing the run to the southeast when Benson cried out, "There she goes."

From a small fissure at the top of the 2,417 meters (7,943 foot) Harris noticed the volcano again showing more activity. Smoke was spewing in greater volume.

Plane Is Shaken
Then it happened. In ugly mood Mayon let loose her fury. We circled the volcano at dangerously close distance while Barstow, who was leaning out of the cockpit window to take his pictures, complained of the heat.

A small of acrid sulphur became noticeable.

Then rocks appeared to be shooting out of the peak toward our plane and the great mantle of clouds spread overhead.

We waited until 2:30 p. m. until we dared to approach the mouth of Mayon again, our plane shook with air turbulence as we passed over hot draughts from the volcano below us.

It was apparent to all of us that only a small vent was permitting the volcano to relieve itself. If that became clogged, Mayon's lid would flow off and when the occasion occurs we would not care to be within 100 miles of the peak, let alone 400 yards.

Lewis Seeks Congress O.K. On Tariff Changes

Congressman Earl R. Lewis has introduced two bills to require the approval of Congress, before they become effective, of all executive agreements with respect to the reduction of tariff rates.

Congressman Lewis has been following closely the hearings now being held by the committee on reciprocity information in preparation for the new trade agreement negotiations scheduled to be held with 18 nations in April. These agreements will involve products of various industries throughout the United States, including glassware and pottery.

The history of trade agreement negotiations thus far indicates that additional reductions will be granted in existing tariff rates.

Lewis believes the enactment of either one of his bills will restore to Congress final control over import duties and prevent, where it is vital to the existence of industry, the loss of protective rates now afforded American workers and American industry.

4 From Nearby Counties Awarded Prison Paroles

The Ohio Pardon and Parole commission has granted 70 paroles to inmates of three state penal institutions, including two from Mahoning county and one each from Stark and Trumbull counties.

Both are from Mahoning county. Carlos P. Santos, Stark county, serving a sentence for grand larceny, was paroled from the Ohio reformatory.

Robert Holliday, of Trumbull county, was paroled from the same institution. He was serving a sentence for grand larceny.

She married Cross the third time in April, 1945. Two children were born of the second marriage.

DEPARTMENT OF GOOD TIDINGS

Under the $750,000 grade school building program approved by Salem voters, this city is going to get a tremendous boost in athletic facilities.

When the program is completed Salem will have a total of seven gyms for use by its youngsters, school teams and physical education classes.

The board of education plans to add auditorium-gymnasiums to Reilly, Prospect, McKinley, the new school on Buckeye ave. and Fourth Street schools.

Those, together with the gyms now in the High school and the Memorial building, will give this city one of the finest set-ups in Ohio for a city of 13,000 population.

The gymnasium-auditorium at the four grade schools will be of smaller size, probably all about equal to the High school, while the Fourth Street gym floor promises to measure about 50x80 feet. None, however, will have large seating capacities.

DEPT. OF LOCAL BOYS

Frank "Toar" Julian, the grunt and groan expert from this city and a grinner here in 1935, probably will reach the peak of his razzing career when he takes on former heavyweight champion (boxing) Primo Carnera in a one-fall affair at the Youngstown Arena a week from yesterday.

Big Toar, who gave this city a top-notch set of wrestling matches a year or two ago, has been active throughout the East and South of late in the mat game and is returning to this section for a short stay.

Toar has officiated several of Carnera's recent matches, but never has been in the ring in a competing capacity against the six-foot, seven-inch giant who ruled the boxing world for a short time years ago.

The matches in Youngstown next Wednesday will get under way at 8:30, Julian's affair being the feature attraction and consequently last on the card.

A sight of the big ex-champ tangle with comparatively short and light Julian seems well worth the trip Mahoning county way. The bout marks a step further up for Salem's product and fans are wishing him well.

DEPT. OF GRATITUDE

The portable pair of baskets purchased by the Salem Boosters club for the Quaker basketball team is being used daily by Coach Miller in his cage drills and the equipment is proving well worth the investment made by the club.

The large-based pole, which supports two baskets on a fan-shaped steel backboard is convenient for the basketballers in rehearsals. It provides two additional hoops for foul-shooting practice and can be placed in the center of the High school court, thereby dividing the floor into two courts, which allows of extensive rehearsals simultaneously on both ends of the gym.

Miller is enthusiastic over the new equipment and has expressed his thanks to many a Booster individually. The films that the club voted to buy for the team were returned because Miller did not feel they were what he wanted.

ODDS AND ENDS

Bill Ward, East Palestine faculty manager, told Fred Cope there would be plenty of room for Salem fans at the game there Friday.

Ward said, "We never have sell-outs here." The gym there seats about 1,500. Ralph Mancuso, manager of Leetonia softball teams for the past two seasons and also in 1940, has an enviable record. All three of his teams reached the playoffs and the 40 bunch won the city title. Ralph is a possible AMVET manager this year.

The Cleveland Browns will hold their second annual coaching clinic for High school mentors again this spring, Paul Brown announced.

The affair drew more than 500 coaches last year, the largest ever held in Ohio. Cecil Isbell probably will coach the Baltimore team in the All-America pro football conference next season, leaving old Purdue. A quartet of Leetonia High's ex-football stars are planning to attend Miami university in 1947. Coach Sid Gillman is anxious to have them, too.

'Confidentially . . .'

Salem Favored Over East Palestine On Friday

COMPARATIVE SCORES GIVE LOCALS EDGE

Coach McKinstry's Outfit Has Won Six, Lost Eight So Far In Season

Salem's Quakers will be heavy favorites to cop their 12th victory Friday night when they move into East Palestine's roomy gymnasium for a renewal of a rivalry with the Bulldogs, coached this season by George McKinstry.

The Bulldogs have a six win and eight loss record to put against Salem's 11 wins and one defeat.

This will be the first time since the 1943-44 season that Salem has played Palestine.

Coach McKinstry's outfit was dealt a severe blow a week ago when George Libert, star griddler who was out with a broken leg but later rejoined the team in the early part of the season, was declared ineligible because he had played with an independent V. F. W. cage team.

Libert, though not exceptionally tall, has been hitting a rapid pace as pivot man for the Bulldogs, scoring 77 points in the seven games he participated in.

With Libert out of the lineup, Coach McKinstry generally uses Don Stewart, Jack Bell, John Bauknecht, Bob Huffman and Blair in his starting lineup.

Bell and Stewart are the leading scorers of that quintet and have been the mainstays in the Bulldog attack all season long.

Palestine's record includes victories over New Castle Union (37-33), Jefferson Union (31-29), Fairfield (45-25), North Lima (34-33), Leetonia (42-32) and Struthers (42-37).

The losses came with McDonald (32-28), Jefferson Union (55-29), Wellsville (40-37), Springfield Township (61-51), Boardman (33-30), Columbiana (46-31), Lisbon (55-28) and Louisville (56-29).

In comparative scores with mutual foes, all cases favor Salem. The Bulldogs and Quakers have met Columbiana, Wellsville and Lisbon and in all cases Salem has a decided comparative edge.

Salem's journey again will afford the Quakers an opportunity to show their wares on a large, tournament size gymnasium.

With the beginning of the sectional tournament at Youngstown South, less than a month away, Coach Bob Miller is anxious to get as much experience on larger courts as is possible.

He will use his same starting lineup, with a good possibility that Tommy Miner, Carl Ciccozzi, Pete Cain and the other reserves will get a chance to swing into action.

It is questionable, however, if the Salem edge will get out of hand, for the locals have shown a tendency to lead by just a safe margin when not pressed. But if the Quakers can build up a substantial lead Miller probably will give the subs lots of action.

The Quakers have four more games after Friday.

The reserve tilt will begin at 7:30 with the varsity game slated for about 8:30.

Mullins defeated the Electric Furnace 39-34 in the tightest game of the evening.

Scoring absolutely at will, the Si's quintet rolled down the floor time after time for easy layup shots, easily outmaneuvering the Ellsworth defense. They tallied 22 points in the first period, 23 in the second, 33 in the third and finished with 29 more in the fourth quarter.

Three men did the bulk of the scoring, tallying 89 points among them. Ray McGaffick hit for 29 and Harry Ehrhart for 23 points, but it remained for Bill Schaeffer to again set a scoring record for the league that will probably stand for the balance of the season. He pumped in 15 field goals and two free throws for 32 points. In doing so, he erased his previous league mark of 22, as did McGaffick and Ehrhart also.

According to Joe Kelley, the team score was the highest ever compiled on the Memorial building hardwoods in any organized game there.

Howard Young of Ellsworth had a fair night as he chalked up 18 points.

The feature of the V. F. W. win over Town Talk was Bill Lutsch's 21 points. He was followed by Johnny Hart, who notched nine. Justice got seven for the losers.

Fifteen tallies by Jerry Smith led Mullins to a 39-34 victory over the Electric Furnace five. Gilbert Eysenhard pumped in 11 to lead the Furnacemen.

Melody Cleaners defeated the Monks 34-28 in the Class B opener.

gate Athletic Director William A. Reid on behalf of the athletic council.

Kerr, tutor of Red Raider grid squads for the last 18 years, retires next June 30. The 40-year-old Bixler was assistant football coach and scout for Kerr from 1939 to 1941, and also was Colgate basketball and baseball coach.

Bixler moved to Ohio State in 1941 as coach of ends and wingbacks and was named a year ago, to succeed Carroll Widdoes as chief coach. His Ohio State Big Nine team won four games, lost three and tied two last season.

Bixler began his football career in prep school at Louisville, Ky. He played guard and fullback for Mount Union college where he received his B. A. degree in 1929.

After coaching two years at Canton, Ohio, Central Junior high, he became football line coach and basketball coach at Canton McKinley High where his cage teams won 45 games and lost nine.

His college coaching span started in 1937 at Akron university where he was assistant in football and head basketball mentor.

Game's Faster Now
CHICAGO—An interesting comparison of basketball statistics can be made by contrasting De Paul's 36 point per game average of 1933-34, the only perfect cage year in the school's history, against the 62 point average compiled by the crack squad of last year. The 33-34 team held opponents to 26 points, while the 45-46 edition stopped the opposition with an average of 47.

Supervised by missus, Mary Louise, Clint Hartung, out of Army Air Forces, puts baseball in hand of and feeds two-year-old stepson, Steven Lynn Hyden, at Hondo, Tex., home. As 19-year-old, six-foot four-and-a-half-inch, 215-pound Hartung batted .358 in Class C Northern League in 1942, pitched and batted phenomenally as outfielder in service since. New York Giants gave Minneapolis club $35,000 and four players for contract of most widely heralded post-war prospect.
